FELT FRUIT MOBILE

I can't explain why, but I've been seized by a sudden urge to celebrate all things summer lately, despite the fact that we're now well into autumn. First it was popsicles, now it's colourful fruit slices and I'm sure it won't be long before I bust out the pineapples. If 'seasonal identity crisis' is a disorder, I think have it in spades!

The latest project to have been given the 'summer treatment' is this baby mobile which I'm sharing today over at Simply Peachy Baby. I'm totally loving the fruit fun it brings to my studio (it's hanging above my head as I type this)... and while I realise it's not really normal to have a baby mobile in one's workspace, I just can't bring myself to take it down!

If you want to add some summer fun to your baby's nursery (or heck, any room of the house), head on over to Simply Peachy Baby for the full tutorial. 😊

xx Steph
